Erickson led members through a discussion of the final review of the draft public opinion survey. Members made numerous comments and recommended final changes. Erickson intends to send the final draft out to the UW River Falls survey center for printing and distribution in the next week.

Tremble asked the members to review the draft Vision statement, explaining that the document is the result of discussion at the June 10th Vision workgroup meeting. Tremble referred then to a short version of the Vision statement drafted as an alternative, and asked members to comment on either version. Members decided to provide comment to both versions over the next few days, and directed the Vision workgroup to meet again to draft final version for Committee action at its next meeting.
