

Local art at the Library

The George Culver Community Library "Local Art at the Library" project is officially up and running. A locking, lighted antique cabinet was purchased and moved to the library's reading room. A brass donation plate acknowledging the Sauk County Extension Education, Arts & Culture Committee and Wisconsin Arts Board is permanently attached to the showcase, and a display above the cabinet includes the required grant verbiage and logos.

Photograph by Lisa Thomas. 12/28/2023. The "Local Art at the Library" cabinet resides in the library's reading nook, adjacent to our circulation desk. A new artist will be featured every month. Our January artist is Patricia Batchelor of Sauk City. On loan are a selection of whimsical knitted and sewn animals and garments, many created using patterns from library books.

Photograph by Lisa Thomas. 12/28/2023. Two of the knitted animals on display as part of the "Local Art at the Library" program.

Photograph by Margie Martel. 12/28/2023. A family enjoys the new "Local Art at the Library" display at the George Culver Community Library.