This is some of the crowd, which was estimated at 500-600.

The Witwen Summer Concert Series is a 4-concert series presented free to the public on Saturdays in July. The setting is in the Witwen Campground, next to Honey Creek. The grounds include an historic tabernacle and revival meeting buildings. Members of the audience bring their own chairs and arrange them in front of an outdoor stage. A food truck offers bbq on some occasions; another truck offered Mexican food at other times. A local Cub Scout pack sells popcorn, soda and water, and homemade pies and ice cream are offered for sale. The series of concerts were very successful and well-attended. We brought a diverse program of local and national music acts to a rural audience in an amazing rural setting. There were four bands presented, three of which set up outside, with one inside the tabernacle because of a rain threat. The bands presented were: July 8 - The Honey Pies July 15- Doreen Ketchens Jazz New Orleans July 22 - Shakey (a Neil Young tribute band) July 29 - Leonardo Garcia y Son Horizonte
